

Extend Access for a Student to an Assignment

Last Modified on 08/08/2023 11:57 am CDT

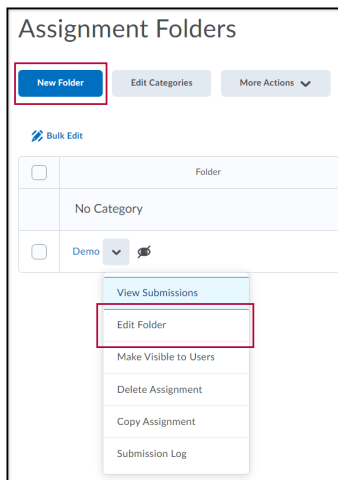

Special Access Permissions

Special access permissions allow you to set different availability dates and times for specific students. For example, you could extend the deadline for students who require remedial help or who are submitting work beyond the original scope of the Assignment. You can also add special access after an Assignment folder's end date has passed for students who have a legitimate excuse for missing the deadline or for students you want to submit additional material, such as planning notes or a bibliography.
